infoLock Technologies Celebrates
Third Anniversary of Partnership with GuardianEdge

Arlington, Virginia (February 16, 2010)—Lifecycle data security firm infoLock Technologies (ILT) recently celebrated the third anniversary of its partnership with GuardianEdge, the market leader in endpoint data protection. Since 2006, ILT has partnered with GuardianEdge to provide data security solutions across all industry verticals.

After more than seventy-five successful production deployments of GuardianEdge software, infoLock Technologies is one of a select group to achieve Premier Partner status with GuardianEdge. As a Premier GuardianEdge Partner, ILT employs an expert team of GuardianEdge-certified engineers and consultants to provide comprehensive service delivery capabilities for the GuardianEdge Data Protection Platform.

Additionally, infoLock Technologies provides a full range of GuardianEdge consulting and integration services, including: project planning and requirements gathering; solution presentation and demonstration; proof-of-concept testing and evaluation; production deployment, configuration, and training; and post-sales support, management, and maintenance. ILT also maintains a state-of-the-art test lab where it continually evaluates new GuardianEdge software in a variety of real-world computing and networking environments.

“Partners such as infoLock have been critical to our growth over the last few years,” said Joseph Hoban, Vice President of Worldwide Channel Sales at GuardianEdge. “Their information security expertise and technical capabilities help to extend our organization’s reach by promoting both our technology and the importance of safeguarding sensitive data at organizations across the country.”

Sean Steele, co-founder and Senior Security Consultant at ILT, said: “We couldn’t be more pleased about reaching the third anniversary of our partnership with GuardianEdge. After successful projects all across the United States and internationally, we’re confident about our ability to provide world-class pre- and post-sales integration services to all client organizations. We look forward to our continued partnership with the incredible team of security professionals at GuardianEdge.”
